

CHARGE METERING SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR DATA TRANSMISSION, ASSOCIATED UNITS, PROGRAM AND ELECTRONIC CREDIT

ABSTRACT

A method in which two terminals operated on a data transmission network store at least one electronic credit. With the aid of the credits, charge metering is performed. The electronic credits are transmitted with credit messages to control units, which check the validity of the credits and, depending on the result of the check, clear network resources.